Self Introduction

My strength lies in my inexhaustible curiosity and sense of wonder. Another strength is my nimble footwork—I can dash off anywhere whenever something sparks my interest. Japan boasts shrines and temples with histories spanning hundreds or even thousands of years, and landscapes shaped by volcanic activity over hundreds of millions of years. But even more than that, there are the flowers blooming with each season, the ever-changing cityscapes, and the daily lives of the people who live here. I am still in love with Japan, with Fukuoka, with nature, and with the ordinary, everyday moment. I would be delighted if we could share in feeling that beauty and excitement together.
